

Celebration for Peter Marston

Peter Marston was joined by friends, family, clients, colleagues and ex-colleagues at a surprise party to celebrate his retirement from EDP. Peter joined the Company in 1986 when it was still Environmental Design Partnership, eventually becoming a Partner and then a Director when the company became EDP Consulting Ltd.

The celebration was held on the evening of 4th April at Brocks Hill Visitors Centre, fittingly an EDP designed building championing low energy technologies commissioned for the millennium.

Peter said he was "overwhelmed... and so grateful to the many people who'd given up their time and travelled such long distances to be there".

EDP are delighted that Peter has agreed to continue working for the company as a Consultant. Peter looks forward to working a three day week and spending his new found free time gardening, travelling and enjoying family life.

Following speeches Peter opens his retirement present - a garden bench!

To crown off a wonderful evening Peter's team Leicester City F.C. beat Sheffield Wednesday 2-1 to guarantee promotion to the Premier League next season.
